- 6:25 Films Begin in the Theater
- ◆ The Wild President (6:20pm) The story of Jimmy Carter's pioneering tandem-canoe descent of Bull Sluice Rapid, and how the experience transformed his life and politics. Directed by Will Stauffer-Norris, produced by Jacob Boling and Sinjin Eberle, and presented by NRS, American Rivers, and Yeti.
  - ◆ Aqua Royale (6:30pm) An Arkansas river rafting whitewater film in the Royal Gorge and Bighorn Sheep Canyon. Directed and produced by Jason Calagaris Jr.
  - ◆ Avanyu: Protecting the Rio Grande (6:47pm) The Rio Grande is the lifeblood of New Mexico. For Tesque Pueblo member Louie Hena and his family, the river is more than an office, more than a provider, it is home. Directed and produced by Dana Romanoff and Amy Marquis, with executive producers Sinjin Eberle and American Rivers.
  - ◆ Solo R1 Descent (6:55pm) One man's journey down Grand Canyon in a seriously little raft. Filmed and produced by David Roberts.
  - ◆ 62 Years (7:00pm) As the Colorado River Basin faces a looming water crisis, the wild Yampa River continues to be a target for diversion. Directed and produced by Logan Bockrath, presented by OARS and American Rivers.
  - ◆ Presentation of GCY's annual Confluence Award
  - ◆ Every Bend (7:20pm) Three Montanans, whose lives are enriched by clean and free-flowing rivers, reflect on the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act and how it has benefitted Montana's rivers.
  - ◆ Tutea Falls (7:28pm) The world's highest commercially-rafted waterfall. Play on in New Zealand! Directed and produced by Devin Supertramp.
  - ◆ A River's Reckoning (7:31pm) A ranching family high in the Colorado River watershed works to balance agriculture, recreation, conservation, and preserving their way of life for future generations. Directed by Sinjin Eberle. Produced by Sinjin Eberle and Joshua Duplechian.
  - ◆ Learning AFAR (7:42pm) This Grand Canyon Youth partnership program with No Barriers Youth from 2016 showcases the transformative power of river programs! Directed and produced by Ashley Moradipour.
